

CALIFORNIA STATE PARKS Whale Watch Docent Orientation & Training Hosted by Stewards of the Coast and Redwoods

Join in the annual celebration of the Pacific gray whale migration along California's spectacular coastline. Every weekend from January through May hundreds of park visitors are assisted in observing the whales off Bodega Head by knowledgeable docents.

Saturday, November 8, 2008, 9:00 am to 1:30 pm with lunch break

Bodega Bay Grange Hall & Bodega Head
(Located in Bodega Bay at the intersection of Highway 1 and Bodega Avenue, across from Pelican Plaza)

Pacific Gray Whale Migration

Instructor: Bea Brunn, Whale Mother

Join us at the Bodega Bay Grange Hall for a presentation about the Pacific gray whale migration and to learn about the logistics of being a Whale Watch docent. After lunch participants will go to Bodega Head for a lifeguard presentation and to become acquainted with the viewing site.

Information will include:

- Natural History of the Pacific gray whale and other whales
- Responsibilities of volunteering with State Parks
- Park policies and procedures
- Introduction to interpretation

Refreshments provided

California State Parks' Volunteers in Parks "VIP" programs are sponsored by Stewards of the Coast and Redwoods, the nonprofit organization that supports education and stewardship programs in the Russian River District.

Call for further information or to register.

(707) 869-9177 x01, rherrick@mcn.org or visit our website at www.stewardsofthecoastandredwoods.org

Funded by: California State Parks Foundation, The Dean Witter Foundation,
The Medtronic Foundation, and Save-the-Redwoods League